Many of you might have heard a story or two about Cinderella. Cinderella's parents died and left her alone with her stepmother, who has two vicious daughters. They made Cinderella clean and cook all day long, the only place that she slept was by the chimney fire. They called her Cindersoot because she is always covered with ashes from the chimney. One day there was a ball, and Cinderella's stepmother and stepsisters left for the ball. Cinderella cried, then her fairy godmother appeared and sent Cinderella to the ball. At the stroke of midnight Cinderella ran back home. The prince looked for her, and said that anyone whose foot fit the glass slipper would be his bride. No one's foot fit other than Cinderella, and they were married.
